In fact, already there have been many cases discovered in which these simple frauds were being regularly worked.

THE Japan Mail remarks :- The Yomiwel newspaper, in pardonable exultation, describes the failure of the Chinese Steamship Company which, at one time, was expected to crush its Japanese rivals on the river between Seoul and Chemulpo. The Chinese Company had long been talked of but did not commence active operations until last autumn. It owned only one steamer, whereas its Japanese competitors had six boats, but the Chinese steamer, which cost $120,000, could have taken all the little Japanese craft into its hold without my ch difficulty. Probably it was because of the imp asing dimensions of the steamer that it was espected to monopolise the trade of the viver. but in point of fact its size proved its ruin, for in the first place it required a large crew, and in the White Star Royal Mail steamer Britannic second when filled with cargo it drew too much water to navigate the river conveniently. The prospects of the Company were excellent at the outset. In addition to a subsidy of $5,1000 yearly from Chins, it had also a contract , with the Corean Government for the transport of 100,000 bales of rice from Chemulpo to Scool. Despite these advantages, a loss of $5,000 was made on the working of the steamer for a half-year, the result being that the Company was 'grominiously wound up and the steamer sold for 30,000 yers. Henceforth she is to have a Jap nese crew and will carry tribute sice on the Chinese coast.

> NEWS of a serious nature, lays the Rangoom Timer, has reached us from the Chinese frontier. where the Viceroy of Yunnan has issued a proclamation declaring the territory, in which the recent encounter between the Military Police and the Kachins took place, to be located within the boundaries of the Chinese Empire. This information is somewhat alarming, although our readers will remember that our special correspondent at the Viceregal Court at Yunan mentioned in his letter which we published a couple. of months ago, that China was advancing; claims to the susceanity of certain outlying parts: in the North of Upper Burms. They seem tohave decidedly established their claims so far as some of the Kachin Hill tracts are: concerned. This bill, as a scientific frontier, is: a valuable stronghold wherein a few troops could! successfully oppose an advancing army, and the anxiety of England to retain possession of that part of the world has, most likely, been so much overdene that the eager cupidity of the Celevilals became thoroughly aroused. At any rate, after lengthy negotiations and the visit of the Viceroy of India to the Upper Burms frontier, we find from the special information just to hand, that China has taken the initiative responsibility of making a decisive move in the political gameinto which she has become more or less. invelgled by the diplomatic promptly gs of Russia and France. We are further told that: still more claims to the cession of additional territory are being put forward; and we are assured that negotiations in this direction are proceeding between the Chinese Amban and Lord Rosebery direct.

About eight o'clock she struck on the Sultan Shoal and remained fast on her starboard | one half. side, despite all efforts to get her off. At high tide at 3.22 a.m. she failed to get off, and as the tide fell again she listed so much that she foundered, at half past eight on the morning of the 15th in three fathoms of water.

Continuing our contemporary says:-" At daybreak Mr. D. Cowan, the manager of the Pulau Bukum Oil Works, went to her assistance with his launch and a tongkang. He took off the crew and passengers, a small quantity of deck cargo and some of the passengers' luggage, but nothing of great moment.

The Pakan is a vessel about twelve years old and the owners have every hope of being able to raise her. A launch is standing by her, with the ship's boat, her crew, and tongkangs. How she could have got ashore is rather a mystery, as it was a beautifully clear moonlight night. No explanation of the mishap has been offered.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.) 19th January, 1894.

We are having a remarkably mild winter. Not a flake of snow has fallen on the T'alyuanfu plain, and even the surrounding mountains appear to be as free from snow as they are weather is cold. Nor is there as much sickness around us as there was this time last year, the

With the thermometer indicating spring that we have only just begun a new year. There is not much else to remind us of the fact. Christmas was pretty generally observed dinners given to the Chinese, and entertainments for the children who attend missionary schools Four foreigners died in this province during 1803, all from typhus fever. Two of the number were connected with the Chinese Inland Mission, one was an American physician, and the other was a Roman Catholic missionary .- N. C. Daily

NEW AMERICAN TREATY WITH CHINA.

Losing sight of statistics, the imagination which procelain towers, shining silk, ivory carvings, tea chests and "barbaric pearl and gold" mingle gorgeously: These millions are supposed to be ready to pour their wealth into American hands in exchange for the products of Western civilization. Even somewhat wellinfarmed persons, who discard the more glittering fictions of this view, believe that the sober possibilities of the China trade are something enormous, and that only a little enterprise in introducing our goods and getting the Chinese in the habit of using them is necessary to build up a business which will enrich those directly or indirectly connected therewith. Some such considerations probably influence Secretary Gresham in his desire for a new Chinese treaty. He is said to have little faith in the future of our trade relations with Spanish America, and will recommend no appropriation to maintain the Bureau of American Republica. It is believed that he will negotiate a treaty with the newly arrived Chinese Envoy, Yung Yu, which will embrace a settlement of the immigration question and the extension of our commercial relations with Chins.

Of course we want all the profitable trade we can get with any people. The danger is that, in any convention into which this Administration may enter with Chins, the astute Celestials will get the better of the bargain. China will give the United States no trade advantages over Great Britain, France or Germany. Even if she had any desire to do so, those countries would make an effective protest. It is simply a question whether China can get what she wants cheaper from us than from them.

Next comes the question-what she wants. It should be noted that in our trade with China we take about three times as much merchandise from her as we send to her, and pay the difference in specie or bullion. China takes from us quicksilver, petroleum, cotton goods, a little flour, canned stuff, etc. The quicksilver shipments are small; Russia threatens to crowd out our petroleum; the flour and canned goods are for the consumption of a few thousand Americans and Europeans at treaty ports. The Chinese have begun to apply modern machinery to cotton manufacture, and with their thrifty business methods and cheap labour will soon supply the home market. It may as well be understood that the mass of the Chinese people have little or no use for anything we have to offer them. They raise their own rice and furnish their own clothes, and that is about all the average Chinaman in his own country has

There is also the fact to be considered that in any possible extension of trade with China it is likely to fall largely into Chinese hands. That is the business history of the neighbouring Asiatic countries and European colonies having large relations with China. It is also the experience of San Francisco. The Chinese merchant Is just as effective a competitor as the Chinese-

If is, therefore, not worth while for Secretary Gresham to give much in the hope of getting much from a Chinese commercial treaty. Especially he should avoid making concessions regarding Chinese immigration and residence, which the wily Orientals will undoubtedly seek. Neither should be, in the interests of commerce, neglect Latin America to run after a Chinese will-o'-the-wisp. There is a real opening for American trade in Mexico and Central and South America. It is a trade which has a future. For instance, we now export to either Central America, Venezuela, Colombia or Hayti more than we do to China. To either the Argentine Republic, Brazil, Mexico or Cuba we send from three to four times as much. Yet with better facilities of transportation and morn effort on the part of our merchants these figures could be enlarged very greatly. We have a little instance in our local trade with Central America since the opposition steam line went into operation. Why Secretary Gresham should neglect was promoted by Harrison and Blaine and the Mr. LYN HARDING, Mr. GFO. MALLETT, WELLING HOUSE No. 27, Mosque this trade is unaccountable, unless because it McKinley bill.—San Francisco Bulletin.
